In conjunction with
The Edwin Judge Chair of Ancient History

Donation to Macquarie University
(ABN 90 952 801 237)

In the 40th anniversary of the establishment of Macquarie University, the Department of Ancient History invited donations to an Ancient History Fund established at the University.

The present Chair of Ancient History has now been titled the Edwin Judge Chair of Ancient History in recognition of the backing provided by this Fund.

The Ancient History Fund and the Edwin Judge Chair will perpetuate the vision of Ancient History as established at Macquarie University by Professor Judge in 1969. The vision entails a broad conception of Ancient History from Egypt/Ancient Near East, Greece and Rome to early Christianity/Judaism in their Graeco-Roman context, down to Late Antiquity/Byzantium.

This vision sees community-based outreach (via the Museum of Ancient Cultures, affiliated organisations and other outlets) as a vital part of the Department's mission, alongside promoting excellence in teaching and research.

Donations should be made to Macquarie University and are tax-deductible. A receipt will be mailed to you. Donations are held in the Fund Account and will be disbursed for research support in keeping with these expressed aims and vision.

With your donation you can also help the current project of the Fund: to award at least two Honours Scholarships annually across the field of Ancient History.

Honours Scholarships:

The Ancient History Department is advertising two or more Honours Scholarships annually, each worth $2,500. These will normally assist students from other universities in Australia, New Zealand or beyond to further their studies in Ancient History at Macquarie with a view to going on to postgraduate research here. If enough money becomes available, assistance may also be able to be provided to prospective Honours students whose BA is from Macquarie University.
